

With the resounding success of the Do-not-call program in NJ, it is quite evident that most people in NJ prefer not to be bothered by unwanted callers. There is no reason to weaken the current NJ Do Not Call laws. As a consumer, if I want to buy something, I rather go to the seller, rather than the seller come to me. Unsolicited calls are obtrusive, rude and should never be allowed in to private homes.

I honestly hope the current Do Not Call regulation does not change as it is working very well at keeping unwanted callers out of our private homes.

Thank you,
